Dear Glueck:

I have your letter of the 19th. The title and abstract seem to me quite suitable.

Mr. Patten has already written to me about his gift.

I am glad to hear about the talk with Mr. Warrington and the plan for a public meeting. Here's hoping there will be some good results.

At Philadelphia last Sunday we discussed among other things the question of your successor as Treasurer if you become Director of the Jerusalem School. Montgomery suggested that a friend of his, Mr. Ashton, whom we may be able to get as a Trustee, might make a good treasurer also. He is a retired business man of some prominence in Philadelphia and is interested in our work. Please let me know of any ideas you have on this subject.

If I hear affirmatively from the Trustees regarding your appointment as Director, as I expect to, I shall inform Mr. Warburg at once, and I hope he will make his gift in time for us to plan next year's budget accordingly. We have several possibilities open now which were not in sight a month or so ago.

Sincerely,

Millar Burrows

P.S. at Philadelphia Sunday those of us who were there agreed that for next year we should put Fisher on part time with a salary of $1500. This will not establish the precedent of giving a pension, and it will keep him under an obligation to do some work for us, if there is anything for him to do. We can explain to him both that we are short of funds and that we have no excavating for him to do, thus saving him a bit of money. I expect to recommend this when we meet.
