MRS. JUDAH L. MAGNES
HEROD'S GATE
JERUSALEM, PALESTINE

28th March.

Dear Helen and Nelson.

Nelson's letter made us wish that we were neighbors again. Mrs. Warburg's visit followed shortly after the letter came and she was able to tell us about both of you. We really missed you at the two picnics at Parden Warburg and at the King David Hotel treats. (We had caivare twice at Frieda's table. As a matter of fact, both caivare and the King David are luxuries that we do not see often, unless Frieda turns up). Gisela came with her and as usual, wanted to stay in Palestine, but her parents did not agree, in spite of her persuasive cablegrams.

Regards to Dr. & Mrs. Ogden.
I must not forget to tell you that our Cambridge gave us a second bathroom in our flat - next to our room! Such luxury!

Judah and I had a crampy winter. Judah took a month and a half off to have the operation for hernia which he had been postponing. He is perfectly well again. We were in Tel Aviv (at Mr. Sangiger's) when he was operated and later went to the Dead Sea. There are small, neat bungalows and one eats at the Kallia restaurant. Of course the Kallia concession is now in the hands of a German couple who know how to cook and keep things clean. One hears of many places which have been taken over by Germans. As you can imagine, much German is spoken here. Helen could now get all the German atmosphere and conversation she expected to get in Germany. David is working at Nathanya. He writes that the garden looks nice. I am expecting him to-day (the first visit in about a month) and as I am anticipating a suitcase full of fresh Nathanya vegetables, I have not ordered much for D.P. Jonathan & Rami are still at the Experiment Station at Rehovoth but they are threatening to leave, because they have no opportunity to ^{begin} ^{still} work at their experiments in cow-feeding - and have to spend most of their time cleaning the cows and the stables. Benedict is seriously considering going to New York in the late summer to try for a Fulbright music scholarship. David will get news of "the School" as he calls the Amer.

These often now, although we are friendly with the Irvinglings and Knechtlings
I had a low one spells the name. Much love to both of you. Nathan.

School of Unethical Studies. I don't get one!
